City boy springs to action, again

Reading Eagle

Tyler Minicozzi, 13, sold lemonade at the corner of Fifth and Bern streets Friday to raise money for the family of fallen Deputy Sheriff Kyle D. Pagerly.

It was the second time Tyler of Reading has set up a lemonade stand amid somber circumstances. The first time, when he was 8, was to raise money for the family of Reading police Officer Scott A. Wertz, who was fatally shot while on duty in 2006.

Tyler said he was shaken when he learned that Pagerly had been killed.

"He'd done so much for the city," Tyler said. "This is my way of showing appreciation."

Minicozzi, who was being helped by his mother, Kim, and sister, Sara, 10, said he plans on setting up his stand at the corner for the next few days.
