Don't let old electronics pile up... Learn how to dispose of them responsibly

The Covered Devices Recycling Act prohibits residents and businesses from placing electronic waste at the curb or in their trash.

By law, as of January 24, 2013, Eagle Disposal is no longer allowed to collect electronic waste. Covered devices include: desktop computers, laptops, monitors, computer peripherals (keyboard, mouse, printer, and speakers), televisions, or e-readers that browse the internet. Because electronic waste can contain hazardous materials that are harmful to human health and the environment, it is very important that these devices are disposed of properly. Use the resources in the right column to learn more information about how to safely recycle your outdated electronic equipment.
